London Pessimism and Talk of the Saturday Bank Statement Apparently the Only Causes of the Selling-Atchison Securities Firm.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.-The exceedingly weak tone which prevailed in the stock market through last week, and which was emphasized at the close of business on Saturday, was renewed in the early dealings this morning. Declines which, in many cases, approximated 2 per cent were scored throughout the general list. Notably weak features of the railway list were St. Paul, which sold ex-dividend this morning and Missouri Pacific.

ern Railways. Amalgamated Copper and Anaconda Mining reflected severe pressure. Among the specialties People's Gas was comparatively firm, as was General Electric. The local traction issues moved in line with the remainder of the market and after opening lower, showed a moderate degree of support.

Trading was in large volume and very well distributed throughout the general market. To some account the weakness in pilees this morning was furthered by the very material declines, showing in the London market for American stocks, the losses there ranging from $\frac{1}{2}$ to over 1 per cent. Foreign houses sold heavily here when business opened. As a matter of fact there was virtually nothing new over Sunday of an important character and the course of the market was probably a continuation of that which developed to such a pronounced degree last

The conditions that prevailed last week in the Stock Market were still present this morning and prices faded away in a num-ber of securities rapidly and in the entire list fractionally. The copper stocks, Sugar, and other industrials went off most sharply but St. Paul Missouri Paulite and other railway issues were also seemingly for the time being without friends. As far as may be judged, the inside in-terests have stepped aside almost entirely. Whether they wish to see lower price the year, or are simply indifferent re garding the present market, so long as there is not a panic, is an interesting there is not a panic, is an interesting question that it seems impossible to answer, however. There are still many conservative people that believe the built movement is not yet over, and that prices will be much higher during the coming winter, and that there will be a big distribution of securities to the public. Indeed, if this is not the programme of the insiders they will act differently from the way that they have always acted before. It might be inferred with much reasonableness from recent events that the insiders have become convinced that a built movement is impossible without a previous decline in prices. The pessimistic utterances of the newspapers supposed to represent the moneyed interests most nearly are an indication along this line.

Sugar was perhaps the most sensations

Sugar was perhaps the most sensation ally weak feature of the list this morn-ing, its break to 113 and a fraction coming suddenly in two or three transaction after the market had opened. To many these transactions looked very much like reaching down for the lowest possible level. The current talk of the trust has level. The current talk of the trust has become extremely pessimistic, much being made of the alleged claim of the sugar beet people that they can put their product on the market for 3 cents, and of alleged poor earnings by the American Company recently. Whether this talk is simply a bear campaign or not will develop later probably.

The copper situation does not beco ore definite. The copper stocks on the other side were weak again this morning break in Amalgamated in New York, The question whether the price of copper will be reduced or not has not been decided apparently. On the one hand it is said that the price is artificially high and that the demand for copper is very small. On the other hand the officers of the Amal-gamated Company say that they do not consider the price too high and do not propose to lower it. They predict that both the foreign and the domestic demand will increase rapidly in the near future. will increase rapidly in the near I saying that stocks on hand are small everywhere.

After opening firm this morning, General Electric dropped four points between quo-tations to the lowest recent price. The talk of this company's affairs has been extremely optimistic and even this morning the Wall Street papers had glowing articles on the earnings of the concern.
It would seem that these articles very re would seem that these articles very evidently were prepared to ald the insiders in selling stock as high as possible. The General Electric Company undoubtedly is a most prosperous concern, but if the industrial situation is radically wrong somewhere this company will suffer with others. On the other hand the simple fact that other industrial securities are declining without good reason is reason, why the same for should come on why the same fate sho

CONFERS WITH MR. ROOSEVELT. H. C. Payne Disenses Appointments in the South.

Henry C. Payne, Vice Chairman of the Republican National Committee, spent considerable time at the White House today, having gone there for a conference with the President. Mr. Payne is a member of the McKinley Monument committee, which will meet in Cleveland on Thursday next. Ex-Senator Henry G.
